WELCOME

Nestled in the majestic Black Hills, Ellsworth Air Force Base, South Dakota, is located 10 miles east of Rapid City and just outside of Box Elder. The base — home to the 28th Bomb Wing — is one of only two B-1B bases in the world.

Ellsworth is surrounded by numerous scenic sights. From the picturesque Badlands to the east, to the Black Hills in the west, to the grazing buffalo and pristine lakes of Custer State Park, this is a region of great natural beauty. Legendary sites including Mount Rushmore, Crazy Horse Memorial, Fort Meade, historic Deadwood and Devils Tower are a short distance beyond the base's main gate. The area has a rich history that includes Crazy Horse, Sitting Bull, Gen. George Custer, Wild Bill Hickok, Calamity Jane and Jack "Crooked Nose" McCall to name but a few.

Western South Dakota and the Black Hills offer myriad activities, especially for those who enjoy nature and the outdoors. Opportunities for fishing, boating, snow and water skiing, hunting, hiking and camping await those who appreciate being outdoors. Whatever the season, Ellsworth and the Black Hills can be a wonderful place to work and live.

POPULATION

Ellsworth's population of approximately 8,300 includes military members, family members and civilian employees. The base's two closest neighboring cities are Box Elder (population of 9,000) and Rapid City (population of more than 70,000). There are also about 3,800 military retirees in western South Dakota.

TIME ZONE

The base and western South Dakota are on Mountain Standard Time.

QUICK TIPS

Inprocessing

This begins at your unit. Service members should report, with their sponsors, to the Rushmore Center and the 28th Forces Support Squadron Customer Service section upon their arrival. Personnel will be inprocessed and scheduled to attend the Right Start program or the First Term Airman Center (FTAC), a mandatory briefing for all newly arrived service members designed to minimize the time and appointments needed to introduce them to the base and organization quickly. Spouses are welcome at Right Start and encouraged to attend. Right Start is located at the Dakota's Club, 2838 Arnold Drive, located directly behind the shoppette. Bring all no-fee passports you may have if coming from an overseas location.

Income Tax

There are income tax advantages associated with moving costs. Keep records and receipts on all expenses associated with a move (travel expenses, meals and lodging, meals and lodging while occupying temporary quarters, expenses attributable to the sale, purchase or lease of a residence, etc.). Upon completing a move, see your organization's legal assistance officer who will help in preparing the proper tax forms. Many or most costs are deductible by using Internal Revenue Service forms 3903 or 3903F. Additionally, South Dakota does not have state income tax for residents.

Household Goods Shipment Information

Upon arrival, check with the Traffic Management Office regarding household goods or hold baggage shipped to Ellsworth. They can be reached by calling 605-385-5828/6597.

Driver's License

Nonresidents may operate a motor vehicle in South Dakota in accordance with the general motor vehicle laws. Nonresident military personnel and dependents are exempt from South Dakota licensing requirements provided they keep their out-of-state operator's license current, properly claim legal residency in that state and the military sponsor remains on active duty. For more information, call the Department of Motor Vehicles at 605-394-2912.

Vehicle Registration

There is no requirement for vehicles to be registered on Ellsworth AFB; however, all vehicles must have a valid state registration and be insured.

Vehicle Safety — Rules of the Road

Generally, all rules of the road applicable to the operation of a motor vehicle on South Dakota roads apply on Ellsworth AFB. Unless otherwise posted, the speed limit on Ellsworth is 25 mph. On streets in the housing areas, the speed limit is 15 mph and 10 mph in parking lots. Remember, the speed on the flightline is 15 mph in aircraft parking areas and on the access roads.

The use of radar detectors or jammers is prohibited on Ellsworth AFB and all other Department of Defense installations. It is legal to possess such devices in South Dakota; however, they must be turned off when driving on base.

The use of cellphones while driving is also prohibited; use of hands-free devices or Bluetooth technologies is allowed.

Open containers of alcoholic beverages are not permitted in the passenger compartment of any vehicle. Operating a vehicle on Ellsworth constitutes an implied consent to submit to a test for intoxication if requested, and refusal of testing will result in an automatic suspension of base driving privileges. The consumed level of intoxication in South Dakota is 0.08 percent blood alcohol content.

Firearms

South Dakota does not require registration of privately owned firearms. Permits to carry concealed weapons are issued by the Pennington County Sheriff's Department for a nominal fee after completion of a background check. These permits, however, do not authorize an individual to carry concealed firearms on Ellsworth AFB. Exception: DOD officials and federal, state and local law enforcement officers are authorized to carry concealed weapons while performing official duties.

Privately owned firearms, ammunition, fireworks and explosives are prohibited in bachelor living quarters and transient living quarters. People living in bachelor quarters are required to register their firearms with the 28th Security Forces Squadron, and are required, along with transient personnel, to store their firearms in the 28 SFS armory. People living in base housing are required to register their firearms through their unit commanders with the 28 SFS armory, and may keep their weapons and ammunition — not to exceed 500 rounds — in their homes. Registrations procedures and the list of prohibited weapons on Ellsworth AFB can be found in the Ellsworth AFB Comprehensive Protection Plan.

A privately owned firearm may be transported in a trunk or other locked compartment of a vehicle, or within a gun case. The firearm must be transported in an unloaded fashion. The firearm may only be transported from the installation ECP or authorized firing location (base firing and skeet ranges) to the place of authorized storage using the most direct route and with no stops along the route. Ammunition must be stored separately from the weapon (i.e., in the glove box or other storage compartment).

Exception: Federal, state, and local law enforcement officers are authorized to bear firearms on Ellsworth AFB while performing official duties.

House Hunting, Permissive TDY

For the purpose of securing nongovernment housing, personnel can take 10 days of permissive TDY from their current base and return for outprocessing, or take eight days after they check in with their new unit at Ellsworth. Contact your local personnel office and unit for details.

ORGANIZATIONS

28TH BOMB WING

Currently, the 28th Bomb Wing is assigned to 12th Air Force under Air Combat Command. As part of a change directed by the Secretary and Chief of Staff of the Air Force, the wing will be realigned under 8th Air Force and assigned to Global Strike Command, effective Oct. 1, 2015. The 28th Bomb Wing guarantees expeditionary combat power — anywhere on the globe. Every world-class Airman sets the standard for sustaining our people, generating our aircraft, maintaining our equipment, defending our base and operating our network — with an unwavering focus on expeditionary combat power. The 28th Bomb Wing is home to 27 B-1 Lancers. In 2012, the base began flying MQ-9 Reaper missions.

The 28th Bomb Wing is divided into the 28th Operations Group, the 28th Maintenance Group, the 28th Mission Support Group and the 28th Medical Group. (See 28th Bomb Wing Organizational Chart on Page 7.)

The 28th Bomb Wing commander's staff consists of a vice commander, command chief master sergeant, director of staff, executive officer, secretary and administrative staff. The 28th Bomb Wing staff agency functions include the wing inspector general, historian, information management, protocol, public affairs, legal, chapel, equal opportunity, wing plans and programs, treaty compliance, safety, antiterrorism, information protection, sexual assault response coordinator and 28th Comptroller Squadron.

28TH OPERATIONS GROUP

The mission of the 28th Operations Group, whose motto is to “find and kill the enemy,” is to provide combat-ready B-1B aircrews for world-wide taskings, including conventional operations and power projection. Airmen in the 28th OG fly the B-1 and MQ-9 Reaper, plan and support combat operations, and develop deployment plans. Additionally, they manage the base airfield, radar approach control facilities and air traffic control tower. The group also includes a weather section, a life support flight, and flight and tower simulators.

The 28th OG Intelligence Flight provides current intelligence information and analysis ranging from strategic intelligence for the base's senior leadership to the tactical level required by the group's combat aircrews.

The 28th OG has four squadrons under its umbrella: the 28th Operations Support Squadron, the 34th Bomb Squadron, the 37th Bomb Squadron and the 432nd Attack Squadron.

28th Operations Support Squadron

The 28th Operations Support Squadron supports the 28th Bomb Wing in all aspects of flying operations to effectively and efficiently train and conduct combat operations.

A diverse squadron, the 28th OSS oversees airfield management, weather support, intelligence analysis, combat crew communications,

B-1 and MQ-9 simulator training, aircrew flight equipment, aircrew flight records, the Belle Fourche Electronic Scoring Site, combat survival training, and weapons and tactics training.

The airfield operations flight manages the base's airfield and runway, as well as radar approach control (RAPCON) and the control tower. In 2008, Ellsworth launched the Department of Defense's first noncontiguous RAPCON facility — the Dakota Air Traffic Control Facility, which controls airspace areas separated by more than 260 miles, including Rapid City Regional Airport, Ellsworth AFB, Minot Regional Airport and Minot Air Force Base, North Dakota.

The weather support flight provides global weather information for all organizations on the base, including operations, maintenance and support.

Combat crew communications manages all flight publications and secure communications to support B-1 training and combat missions.

The current operations flight accomplishes long-range scheduling for the wing's B-1 aircraft, manages the wing's annual flying hour program, schedules and manages 28th BW airspace, and maintains flight records for more than 380 aircrew.

The Belle Fourche ESS in Colony, Wyoming, maintains and operates one of the Air Force's threat simulation sites, supporting training and combat readiness for units across the Air Force and the Department of Defense.

Aircrew Flight Equipment builds and maintains all mission-enabling and life-sustaining aircrew equipment, including night vision goggles, harnesses, survival vests and aircraft ejection seat kits. They also conduct all aircrew combat survival instruction for wing personnel and aircrews.

The Mission Training Center operates and maintains two full-motion, state-of-the-art Weapons System Trainers — or B-1 simulators — to support training for base aircrew. The simulators include the ability to virtually link to other simulators across the DOD to provide integrated multiforce training. The MTC is undergoing an upgrade to add a MQ-9 simulator.

The weapons and tactics flight is the wing's focal point for B-1 tactics, training and execution. The flight is responsible for ensuring wing combat readiness for worldwide operational taskings and planning and supporting combat operations and deployments for two tactical B-1 squadrons and one MQ-9 squadron. Additionally, it provides deployable planning and support teams for B-1 employment and maintains the ability to deploy worldwide and function autonomously at forward locations.

The intelligence flight develops and oversees all intelligence requirements and scenario development for 28 BW exercises, contingencies and wartime taskings. Additionally, the flight manages all aircrew and internal intelligence training in support of B-1 and MQ-9 verifications, directs intelligence support for munitions integration and planning, and provides functional management for nearly 100 intelligence officers and Airmen assigned to four squadrons within the 28th Operations Group.

34th Bomb Squadron

Known as the Thunderbirds, the 34th Bomb Squadron's mission is to defeat America's enemies across the globe at a moment's notice.

The history of the 34th BS dates back to World War I, when the U.S. Army organized the 34th Aero Squadron, June 11, 1917. During assignment with the 17th Pursuit Group, the squadron became equipped with the P-12 biplane fighter. In 1935 and 1936, the squadron gradually transitioned from the P-12 and P-26 Peashooter to the A-17 and YA-19, which it kept until 1940 when it began flying the B-18 and the B-23 bombers.

On April 18, 1942, 34th crews famously flew the B-25 Mitchell from the deck of the USS Hornet with crews from the 37th Bomb Squadron and 432nd Attack Squadron during the Doolittle Raid against Japan. Throughout the war, the 34th flew bombing missions in the B-26 Invader overseas and returned to the United States in November 1945. The day after its arrival, the squadron was inactivated. The 34th BS went through numerous activations and deactivations over its history. However, it was able to fly interdiction and close air support missions in Korea, transitioning to the B-57, the B-66 and then finally the B-52 Stratofortress aircraft.

When the unit moved to Ellsworth on April 1, 1994, it began flying the B-1B. On April 1, 1997, the squadron moved again, transferring to Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho. After the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks on the United States, the 34th BS was one of the first units to deploy overseas in support of Operation Enduring Freedom. On Sept. 19, 2002, the 34th BS moved back to Ellsworth from Mountain Home. As tensions rose in Iraq, the 34th BS deployed from Jan. 5 to May 15, 2003, in support of Operation Enduring Freedom, Operation Southern Watch and Operation Iraqi Freedom.

Since 2003, the Thunderbirds have completed numerous deployments in support of operations Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom. Starting in 2007, the 34th entered a regular deployment schedule with other B-1 units, with one year at home station followed by six months deployed. On average, these deployments result in more than 6,000 combat hours and more than 500 combat sorties flown supporting overseas contingency operations. On March 27, 2011, the 34th BS flew the first B-1 combat mission launched from the United States to strike overseas targets when it participated in Operation Odyssey Dawn, flying non-stop from Ellsworth to strike targets in Libya.

37th Bomb Squadron

The 37th Bomb Squadron Tigers are responsible for employing the B-1B in support of DOD missions.

The 37th BS consists of approximately 70 Airmen, including aviators and intelligence and aviation resource management Airmen. These Airmen enable the Tigers to remain on the leading edge of B-1 employment, supporting precision engagement and global attack missions.

The 37th BS is among the Air Force's most senior units. It began as the 37th Aero Squadron in June 1913, and served with the American Expeditionary Force in France during World War I. During World War II, the 37th served for a short time with the 28th Composite Group in 1940, and then was assigned to the 17th Bomb Group. As part of the 17th BG, the 37th participated in one of the most famous air raids of World War II. Three crews trained in B-25 Mitchell bombers and flew with Lt. Col. Jimmy Doolittle on the famous raid over Tokyo in April 1942.

After the World War II ended, the squadron was deactivated. In 1950, the 37th reactivated as a night intruder squadron and transferred to Pusan, Korea. The squadron flew the B-26 Invader on night interdiction missions during the Korean War. The squadron "hunted at night, like tigers" and adopted its current patch: a Bengal tiger.

The 37th Bomb Squadron joined the 28th Bomb Wing at Ellsworth in 1977, flying the B-25H Stratofortress. On Jan. 1, 1987, the squadron transitioned to its current aircraft, the B-1B.

In December 1998, the Tigers became the first unit to employ the B-1 in combat in support of Operation Desert Fox in Iraq. One year later, Tiger crews teamed with the 77th Bomb Squadron War Eagles for Operation Allied Force and flew combat operations in Kosovo and Serbia.

After Sept. 11, 2001, the 37th BS again roared into action alongside the 34th and formed the 34th Expeditionary Bomb Squadron. Flying missions to Afghanistan, the squadron contributed to the 34th EBS effort to drive the Taliban from Afghanistan. During this time, the combined squadron flew 5 percent of the strike missions but released nearly 40 percent of the total bomb tonnage — more than 1,730 tons.

In March 2003, crews from the 37th BS joined crews from the 34th BS to employ the B-1 in action during Operation Iraqi Freedom. Tiger crews flew numerous combat missions over Iraq, including a strike against high-priority leadership targets in Baghdad.

Since 2003, the Tigers accomplished numerous deployments, supporting operations Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom. In 2007, the 37th began regular deployments to the Middle East, rotating with other B-1 units, with one year at home station followed by six months deployed. On average, the squadron flies more than 6,000 combat hours and more than 500 combat sorties per deployment. Additionally, 37th BS personnel supported the 34th's Libya strike missions from Ellsworth from a forward operating location during Operation Odyssey Dawn, the first B-1 combat mission launched from the United States to strike overseas targets. A steady contributor to America's airpower might, the 37th Bomb Squadron Tigers surely will continue to contribute to securing America's safety for many more years.

432nd Attack Squadron

The 432nd Attack Squadron, the newest operational squadron at Ellsworth AFB, was reactivated Oct. 1, 2011. The 432nd Attack Squadron's mission is to remotely employ MQ-9 Reaper aircraft from ground control facilities located at Ellsworth AFB in support of worldwide combatant commander requirements.

The lineage of the 432nd dates back to 1917, where it was first organized as the 89th Aero Squadron operating out of Kelly Field,

Texas. During World War I, the unit forward deployed to Colombey-les-Belles and Chatillon-sur-Seine, France. During this period the unit constructed facilities, maintained aircraft and trained observers in the "Zone of Advance."

The squadron was demobilized May 19, 1919, reorganized in 1936 as the 89th Observation Squadron, and later redesignated as the 89th Reconnaissance Squadron. Additional unit redesignations include: 432nd Bombardment Squadron (1942), 432nd Bomb Squadron (2007) and 432nd Attack Squadron (2011).

In 1942, the 89th Reconnaissance Squadron was one of four units assigned to the 17th Bombardment Group, from which several members were selected to fly the infamous April 18, 1942, "Doolittle Raid" on Tokyo, Japan. Additionally, the unit was awarded two Distinguished Unit citations for action in Europe: Jan. 13, 1944, for action over Ciampino, Italy, and April 10, 1945, for action over Schweinfurt, Germany. Over the past century the unit has employed several aircraft, including the Breguet 14, B-18 Bolo, B-23 Dragon, B-25 Mitchell, B-26 Marauder and currently the MQ-9 Reaper.

The 432nd Attack Squadron continues this proud heritage of supporting the national security of the United States. The 432nd Attack Squadron will provide combatant commanders with actionable precision reconnaissance capabilities for time-critical targets, air interdiction, close air support and strike coordination.

ORGANIZATIONS

28TH MISSION SUPPORT GROUP

The 28th Mission Support Group provides mission-essential “city” services at home and combat support services to Airmen while deployed. The group provides essential services for active-duty members, retirees and civilians and their families, including food services, security, vehicles, supplies, computer and telephone support, civil engineering, educational and recreational services, and personnel support. Six squadrons are under the 28th MSG umbrella: the 28th Civil Engineer Squadron, 28th Contracting Squadron, 28th Communications Squadron, 28th Logistics Readiness Squadron, 28th Security Forces Squadron and 28th Force Support Squadron.

28th Civil Engineer Squadron

The 28th Civil Engineer Squadron provides the necessary assets and skilled personnel to prepare and sustain installations throughout the world, in times of war and peace. The squadron’s dual mission is to provide quality home-station engineer services for rapid, decisive, sustainable combat support, anytime, anywhere. Additionally, the Prime Base Engineer Emergency Force (Prime BEEF) mobility teams stand ready to rapidly deploy anytime, anywhere to provide fully responsive engineer capabilities in support of our nation’s contingencies. This dual mission of war readiness and infrastructure maintenance is accomplished with a combined military and civilian workforce capable of rapid transition between missions.

Civil engineers support the installation and the Air Force mission by applying resources to accomplish required tasks in the following areas — readiness and emergency management, real property maintenance and accountability, utility services, minor construction, fire protection, explosive ordnance disposal, disaster preparedness, environmental protection, nonreal property services, and technical and management services.

The squadron consists of six flights: Engineering, Fire Protection, Installation Management, Explosive Ordnance Disposal, Readiness & Emergency and Operations.

In addition to daily operations, Prime BEEF is responsible for maintaining, repairing, operating and helping the base — or any installation around the world — recovery before, during and after a peacetime or wartime disaster, or deploying a fully capable engineer force in support of contingency operations.

28th Contracting Squadron

The mission of the 28th Contracting Squadron is to provide agile contracting support and business advice to Ellsworth and combatant commanders. The squadron consists of three flights.

- The LGCA Acquisition Flight provides contract support for commodity and service requirements. The flight oversees $40 million in recurring service contracts, $7 million in medical support personnel contracts, $9 million in utilities and another $15 million in commodity purchases.
- The LGCB Acquisition Flight provides construction and related support to the 28th Civil Engineer Squadron. The flight oversees $30 million and over 100 annual requirements for construction and direct support to the 28th Bomb Wing and Ellsworth tenant units.
- The LGCP Plans and Programs Flight supports the base’s contract Quality Assurance Program, Government Purchase Card program and Contracting Systems Support activity. The Quality Assurance Program coordinator ensures contract compliance on 14 major service contracts in a $37 million portfolio. The government purchases total $10 million in annual expenditures. This flight is also responsible for maintaining the unit's procurement database and Web-based systems. The purchase card coordinator oversees nearly 200 managing accounts, 300 cards and 10,000 GPC activities.

In addition, all three flights collectively carry out congressionally mandated socio-economic programs through small business outreach events and by awarding contracts to businesses in several small business categories. Each year, the squadron awards more than $20 million to small businesses, which amounts to nearly 90 percent of available contract dollars. The squadron also contracts with a local AbilityOne contractor for another $10 million annually, which provides jobs for people with severe disabilities. Through these programs, 28th CONS not only complies with the law, but also serves as a good community partner.

28th Communications Squadron

The 28th Communications Squadron's vision to set the cyberspace standard of excellence for the Air Force is summarized by their motto — Wired for War. The squadron provides combat-ready Airmen in support of warfighter requirements while developing cyberspace professionals focused on world-class customer support to all units assigned to Ellsworth AFB.

The squadron consists of two flights — the Operations Flight and Plans and Resources

Flight — as well as a command section and Policy and Evaluations section.

The Operations Flight consists of five sections:

- The Infrastructure Systems section manages network connectivity and sustains the base's long-haul communications circuits.
- Knowledge Operations Management supports Ellsworth with enterprise information management, records management, knowledge management and SharePoint content management functions. The Airmen of the section also manage the wing publications and forms programs, and oversee the wing Privacy Act and Freedom of Information Act programs.

- The Cyber Systems Operations section sustains servers that make technology work and continue to work for Ellsworth personnel. Be it network services, BlackBerry support, applications, file storage, firewalls or anti-virus updates, the Airmen in CSO touch every user on a daily basis.
- The Airmen of the RF Transmissions section sustain numerous radio systems and the base "Giant Voice" emergency broadcast network in addition to providing public address system support. They also maintain the base Land Mobile Radio (LMR) network and personal wireless communication systems.
- The Client Service Center has three missions vital to both daily information technology user services and mission systems maintenance. The heartbeat of the squadron, the Communications Focal Point maintains systems and personnel status. It also directs corrective actions in a timely manner by interfacing with external agencies' users and production work centers. The technicians provide desktop touch maintenance support along with installing and configuring software, operating systems and applications. Finally, Computer Systems Management provides cradle-to-grave management and accountability of the entire wing's IT equipment. The Operations Flight also manages base postal activities.

The Plans and Resources Flight is a small but dynamic flight with three unique and vital missions. The Plans Office provides short- and long-range communications and information planning for Ellsworth. The wing Information Assurance Office provides base-level information assurance services while managing communication security programs to include Communications, Computer and Emission security, as well the Information Assurance Awareness and Telecommunications Monitoring and Assessment programs. Finally, the Force Development office is the central point for all training, readiness and deployment management.

The 28th CS command section includes the squadron commander, superintendent, first sergeant and unit program manager. The Policy and Evaluations Section ensures quality maintenance and other functional area support services through evaluation, deficiency identification and trend analysis.

28th Logistics Readiness Squadron

The mission of the 28th Logistics Readiness Squadron is to provide responsive, reliable and sustainable logistics support anytime, anywhere. The squadron is made up of more than 340 professionals separated into four flights and two sections. These professionals provide support to 39 wing and tenant units with mobility readiness and operations, vehicle operations, vehicle and equipment maintenance, personal property and cargo shipments, fuel storage and distribution, supply and equipment accountability, and the war reserve materiel program, and maintains B-1 spares packages and aircraft parts.

The 28th LRS Deployment and Distribution Flight is the single wing authority for receiving, storing and shipping Department of Defense supplies and equipment, handling more than 20,000 different commodities valued in excess of $174 million. The Airmen of the section manage the base U-Drive-It fleet, buses and DV vehicles. Additionally, the Deployment and Distribution Flight is the wing contact for war reserve materiel management, deployment planning, training and execution, base and expeditionary support planning, sustainment, redeployment, mobility bags, small arms weapons and wing support agreements management. This flight also manages air terminal operations, as well as provides logistics readiness deployment training for all installation personnel to carry out deployment tasks.

During contingency operations, the Deployment and Distribution Flight provides wing command and control through the Deployment Control Center and the Installation Deployment Readiness Cell. The Deployment and Distribution Flight is also responsible for arranging the movement and storage of personal property and providing ticketing for official travel of DOD passengers. This is the flight to contact upon arrival at Ellsworth to arrange for delivery of household goods.

The squadron's Material Management Flight receives, stores, inventories and issues all stock listed materials for the wing. They are the focal point for all supply issues and the base-level liaison for all equipment matters. Additionally, the Material Management Flight manages six B-1B mobility ready spares kits — valued at more than $300 million — that are postured for deployment at a moment's notice. They also account for all wing mobility bags and deployable small arms valued at more than $12 million. Lastly, the 28th LRS Material Management Flight ensures all repairable parts get processed and routed to the proper repair facilities and briefs the 28th Maintenance Group commander and 28th BW commander daily on aircraft MICAP status.

The Management and Systems Section provides the training, resources and systems required to ensure the efficient and effective operation of squadron processes. It is the primary liaison between base customers and the regional supply squadron. The flight provides interface with internal and external customers and monitors performance to ensure quality service and accountability.

The 28th LRS Vehicle Management Flight is the single authority and source for maintenance and management of the installation's motor vehicle fleet. The flight is responsible for overall management and maintenance of the wing's 630-vehicle fleet. The 28th LRS assigns, accounts for and maintains vehicle assets so they are safe, efficient and environmentally sound to meet the wing's needs.

The Fuels Flight mission is to ensure more than 18 million gallons of quality petroleum products, cryogenics fluids and missile propellants are acquired or produced and issued safely and efficiently to using organizations annually.

28th Security Forces Squadron

The defenders of the 28th Security Forces Squadron, whose motto is "Courage conquers all," provides integrated defense and combat capability for Ellsworth AFB, the United States Air Force, the Department of Defense and COCOM commanders worldwide. Whether at home station or forward deployed, members of the 28 SFS provide an impenetrable umbrella of force protection encompassing all personnel, property and resources.

The squadron is divided into five flights that handle: support staff functions (S1); ground intelligence and investigations (S2); operations and training (S3); logistics (S4); and plans and programs (S5). These staff agencies perform such roles as planning, equipping, training, directing and evaluating mission-related activities and personnel assigned to the 28 SFS. The staff also provides base support, including crime prevention, resource protection, criminal investigation and intelligence, incident reporting, visitor control, pass and registration, anti-terrorism, and reports and analysis.

Integrated defense is achieved through security patrolling, community policing, military working dog teams, a basewide camera and alarm network, and strict installation access control. These functions work around the clock to ensure protection of the base populace and mission-critical resources. Patrols maintain an excellent relationship with the public by making contact with the base populace while on patrol in an effort to better understand their concerns about law enforcement issues.

The 28 SFS military working dog section not only provides explosive and drug detection capabilities to the base, but also assists local civil authorities as needed.

28th Force Support Squadron

The 28th Force Support Squadron provides services to Ellsworth's active-duty members, Department of Defense civilians, retirees and their families. During normal duty hours, the 28 MDG appointment line is 605-385-6700, option 1. Phone lines are open 6:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. for active-duty members and 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. for non-active-duty members.

Go to the nearest emergency department for after-hours or life-threatening emergencies such as broken or injured limbs, eye injuries or unrelieved pain. Personnel are to contact their primary care provider the next duty day to advise him or her that emergency room care was sought and why. If follow-up care with a specialty provider is needed, personnel should contact their primary care provider or the Military Treatment Facility primary care provider on-call the next duty day to ensure a referral is provided to UnitedHealthcare. For acute concerns that need intervention to prevent the deterioration of a person's health prior to the next duty day, call the after-hours line at 605-385-6700 to receive an urgent care referral. Retroactive urgent care referrals will not be made and need to be attained prior to going to an urgent care facility.

Prime access standards — appointments will be scheduled as follows:

- Acute Care — Scheduled within 24 hours.
- Routine Care — Scheduled within seven days.
- Well Appointments — Scheduled within 28 days.

For routine and well appointments, personnel may receive a phone call with an audio and personal reminder two days prior to the appointment. If a person requires medical care downtown, such as with a specialist (e.g., orthopedist, audiologist, etc.), they should contact their primary care provider prior to making an appointment. People who go to the specialist without contacting their primary care provider first may have to pay for that visit. If personnel or their family have a true medical emergency (defined as a threat to life, limb, eyesight or unrelieved pain) they should call 911 or seek care at the nearest medical facility. They should then contact their primary care provider as soon as possible to let them know why a visit to the ER was required and inform them if the ER physician wants the patient to see any civilian specialty provider.

TRICARE

Prime: While mandatory for active-duty members, family members of active-duty personnel and retirees under the age of 65 are encouraged to take advantage of this little-to-no-cost option. A primary care provider will be assigned to you and your family and will work to ensure your overall well-being. If the type of care required is not offered by the primary care provider, he or she will place a referral for you or your family member to see a specialist in the TRICARE civilian network.

Standard: TRICARE Standard is available to family members and retirees. This option is the more costly, however, it provides for the greatest flexibility when seeing providers.

Extra: Part of the TRICARE Standard option, TRICARE Extra offers a lower cost share when family members see TRICARE network civilian health care providers and facilities.

To determine which TRICARE plan is the right choice, visit www.uhc.militarywest.com or call 877-988-WEST (9378).

Importance of DEERS: Much of the Military Health System's information concerning active-duty members, retirees, and their families is retrieved from the Defense Enrollment Eligibility and Reporting System maintained by the Military Personnel Element. Verify this information is accurate and up-to-date to ensure referrals and other health-related correspondence is sent to you in a timely manner — personnel should review their DEERS information for accuracy every three months.

TRICARE Briefings

TRICARE offers many briefings to the beneficiary community, including newcomers' briefings, Heart Link briefings, Medical Right Start briefings, reunion briefings, pre-deployment briefings and various briefings at squadron commander's calls.

Heart Link: The Heart Link briefing is offered at the Airman and Family Readiness Center and is focused toward family members.

Medical Right Start: This briefing is mandatory for all newly assigned active-duty members. Family members are highly encouraged to attend. It is offered once a month in conjunction with the 28th Bomb Wing Right Start program.

Commander's Calls: TRICARE is always available to brief at Commander's Calls to update members on new TRICARE policies or services.

One of the first things Airmen should do when arriving at Ellsworth is enroll in TRICARE Prime at the 28 MDG. The TRICARE contractor for the West Region is UnitedHealthcare Military & Veterans. To enroll, simply call 877-988-WEST (9378) or go to www.dmdc.osd.mil/appj/bwe.

TENANT UNITS

Air Force Financial Services Center

Opened Sept. 14, 2007, the Air Force Financial Services Center provides travel pay services and support to Air Force active-duty and reserve component personnel, as well as Department of the Air Force civilian personnel across the Air Force through the centralized processing of travel claims.

The Black Hills Area Chapter of the American Red Cross, located at 1221 North Maple Ave. in Rapid City, provides a broad range of services to military members, their families and the communities of western South Dakota. The staff works closely with the base Airman and Family Readiness Center and 28th Medical Group. Through the Services to Armed Forces program the Red Cross offers assistance with emergency communications, personal and family coping skills, information referrals and advocacy for active-duty military members and their families. The Black Hills Area Chapter offers training courses, including first aid, cardiopulmonary resuscitation, automated external defibrillator use, baby-sitting and an array of disaster response courses for Red Cross volunteers. The local Red Cross also provides disaster response and relief throughout western South Dakota.

Defense Logistics Agency Disposition Services

The Defense Logistics Agency Disposition Services field office at Ellsworth is a satellite office. Central DLA offices are located at Fort Riley, Kansas, and maintain administrative and operational responsibility for this site in South Dakota. The primary mission of DLADS is the receipt of all excess, surplus and recyclable property from Department of Defense activities in South Dakota. Redistribution of this property to the warfighters, federal government agencies, and authorized state and local recipients is the No. 1 objective of DLADS.

Defense Security Service

The Defense Security Service, formerly known as the Defense Investigative Service, plays a crucial role in safeguarding our nation's security. As a Department of Defense agency, DSS makes its contribution to the National Security Community by conducting personnel security investigations, providing industrial security products and services, and offering comprehensive security education and training to Department of Defense and other government entities. To complement its three primary missions — the Personnel Security Investigations Program, the Industrial Security Program, and the Security Education, Training and Awareness Program — DSS offers the unique advantage of integrating counterintelligence into its core security disciplines through our training programs, policy development and operational support to our field elements.

Detachment 226, Air Force Office of Special Investigations

Within the jurisdiction of the United States Air Force, the Air Force Office of Special Investigations is the single agency responsible for the investigation of major criminal, fraud and counterintelligence matters. It identifies, investigates and neutralizes such crimes as espionage, terrorism, fraud, larceny, murder, assault, sex offenses and all other major criminal activities that threaten the people and resources of the Air Force and Department of Defense. AFOSI also serves a role similar to that of the U.S. Secret Service, providing personal protective services for high-ranking Air Force officials and other dignitaries.

Detachment 8, 372nd Training Squadron

Detachment 8 is one of 46 Air Education and Training Command training detachments throughout the world. They provide formal training for the B-1B and Aerospace Ground Equipment maintenance community, supporting Ellsworth; Dyess Air Force Base, Texas; Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma; Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio; and Edwards Air Force Base, California. The detachment currently employs 20 personnel at Ellsworth and trains more than 1,600 maintainers annually.

Northwest Area Audit Office, Air Force Audit Agency

The mission of the Air Force Audit Agency is to provide all levels of Air Force management with independent, objective and quality audit services. These services include reviewing and promoting the economy, effectiveness and efficiency of operations; evaluating programs and activities; assisting management in achieving results; and assessing and improving stewardship and the accuracy of financial reporting. The AFAA operating location at Ellsworth is independent of the base and is a sub-office of the Minot Air Force Base, North Dakota, Audit Office, which reports directly to the Northwest Area Audit Office at Joint Base Lewis-McChord, Washington.

HOUSING

The Ellsworth Housing Office hours of operation are 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. During nonduty hours, current on-base information is available at www.ellsworth.af.mil and off-base housing information is available at www.HOMES.mil.

MILITARY FAMILY HOUSING

The Ellsworth Housing Office is located at 3025 Lincoln Drive, and government personnel are available 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. All housing on base is privatized and owned and managed by Balfour Beatty Communities (BBC) under the Military Housing Privatization Initiative. BBC personnel are co-located in the Housing Office, and are available 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. During nonduty hours, current base housing information is available at www.ellsworth.af.mil (Air Force site) and at www.ellsworthfamilyhousing.com (BBC site). Homes and apartments for rent by local property managers can be viewed at www.HOMES.mil.

PRIVATIZED BASE HOUSING

As of April 2015, privatized housing at Ellsworth AFB totals 283 housing units. There are two separate housing areas on base:

- Prairie View Estates, constructed in 2004, has 40 four-bedroom units and 60 three-bedroom units for junior enlisted.

- Rushmore Heights, constructed between 2006-2009, has 131 four-bedroom units for junior enlisted, 14 four-bedroom units for senior NCOs, 17 four-bedroom units for company grade officers, five prestige four-bedroom units for chief master sergeants, seven three-bedroom units and five four-bedroom units for field grade officers, and four senior officer four-bedroom units.

BBC is building an additional 214 units of various bedroom and grade types, which will be ready for occupancy between May 2015 and August 2016. All active-duty military members who are eligible for basic allowance for housing at the “with” dependent rate are eligible for military family housing.

To apply for housing, service members must complete both a DD Form 1746 (DOD Housing Application) and a BBC application for housing. We recommend inbound members contact BBC in advance of their arrival to start the application process or assigned members visit the Ellsworth Housing Office to begin the application process. BBC manages the waitlists, and all inquiries regarding status on the waiting list or approximate waiting times for housing can be answered by calling 605-923-9000.

OFF-BASE HOUSING

To assist newcomers or individuals looking for off-base housing, the DOD manages a website — www.HOMES.mil — where local property managers wishing to market specifically to military members can list their properties. The listings contain information such as house size, location, pictures, pet requirements, cost, contact numbers, security deposits and lease terms. Government personnel at the Housing Office are available to assist both newcomers and assigned personnel with finding adequate off-base housing. Please call 605-385-2570 to request a list of resources for finding suitable rentals, school links and other area information. The Fair Housing Act of 1968 makes discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex or national origin illegal in regard to sale or rental of most housing. Government personnel are tasked to address any suspected or validated violations of this law.

housing at Ellsworth is available for all single Airmen in the ranks of E-1 through E-4. Unaccompanied Housing Management hours of operation are 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Airmen dorm leaders can be reached at 605-385-2567 during normal duty hours.

There are 742 rooms in six dormitories, all single occupancy. Each dorm has one game room (card and pool tables, dart boards), one kitchen, one laundry room and at least four TV rooms. High-definition cable and Wi-Fi are installed in each first-floor dayroom.

Individual dorm rooms are pre-wired for cable television, high-speed cable Internet and phone; these services may be acquired through contract with a local vendor (Mid-continent Communications). Airmen dorm leaders can provide contact information and assist with questions regarding private communication services.

HISTORY

ELLSWORTH AFB HISTORY

A few short weeks after the attack on Pearl Harbor, a team of U.S. Army engineers arrived in Rapid City with plans to transform a barren plateau east of town into a new Army airfield. Surveying the landscape during that cold January in 1942, they could scarcely have imagined the long-reaching impact their work would have, both on the surrounding region and for the nation's defense over the next 70 years.

In a herculean effort, workers from around the area worked swiftly to construct facilities on land adjacent to the old municipal airport. The new Rapid City Army Air Base welcomed its first B-17 Flying Fortresses in September 1942. Col. Charles Oldfield was the first commander of the base, where the Combat Crew Training School soon provided qualified B-17 aircrews desperately needed for missions in the European theater.

From September 1942, when its military runways first opened, until mission needs changed in July 1945, the field's instructors taught thousands of pilots, navigators, radio operators and gunners from nine heavy bombardment groups and numerous smaller units. All training focused on the Allied drive to overthrow the Axis powers in Europe.

Like many of the bases that sprung up around the country during the war, Rapid City Army Airfield was originally intended to be a temporary facility "for the duration." The growing nuclear threat from behind the Iron Curtain, however, quickly established Rapid City in a new role on the front lines of the Cold War. After World War II, the base briefly trained weather-reconnaissance and combat squadrons using P-61 Black Widow, P-38 Lightning, P-51 Mustang and B-25 Mitchell aircraft. Those missions soon ended and Rapid City Army Air Field temporarily shut down from September 1946 through March 1947. When operations resumed in 1947, the base was a new United States Air Force asset. The primary unit assigned to Rapid City Air Force Base was the new 28th Bombardment Wing — flying the B-29 Superfortress.

The installation changed names a few more times during its early years. In January 1948, Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Carl A. Spaatz renamed it Weaver Air Force Base in honor of Brig. Gen. Walter R. Weaver, one of the pioneers in the development of the Air Force. In June of that year, in response to overwhelming public appeals, Secretary of the Air Force Stuart Symington returned it to its previous name. The base was declared a permanent installation in early 1948.

Shortly after additional runway improvements, in July 1949, the 28th BMW began conversion from B-29s to the B-36 Peacemaker. The massive B-36 Peacemaker, a 10-engine, nuclear-capable bomber dubbed the "magnesium overcast," is still the largest combat aircraft ever to see active U.S. Air Force service. This was a period of tremendous investment in base facilities, including the construction of the cavernous B-36 aircraft hangar — now known as the Pride Hangar — that remains a regional landmark. In April 1950, the Air Staff reassigned the base from 15th Air Force to 8th Air Force.

It was also during this period that a tragedy provided the installation with its namesake. While leading a procession of RB-36s back to Rapid City following an exercise in England, Commander Brig. Gen. Richard Ellsworth and 21 other crew members of the 28th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing died in a crash over Newfoundland in March 1953. Three months later, President Dwight D. Eisenhower personally dedicated the newly renamed Ellsworth Air Force Base in honor of its fallen leader June 13, 1953.

Military organizations periodically upgrade manpower and machines from time to time to meet new national security requirements. The organizations on Ellsworth AFB were no exception. Headquarters Strategic Air Command reassigned the 28th BMW from 8th Air Force back to 15th Air Force in October 1955. Approximately one year later, SAC set plans in motion to replace the 28th BMW B-36s with the new all-jet B-52 Stratofortress. The last B-36 left Ellsworth on May 29, 1957, and the first B-52 Stratofortress arrived 16 days later. In 1958, all base units came under the command of the 821st Strategic Aerospace Division, headquartered at Ellsworth.

The 1960s saw further expansion of Ellsworth's role as a pillar in our nuclear deterrent strategy. In October 1960, Ellsworth entered the Space Age with the activation of the 850th Strategic Missile Squadron, initially assigned to the 28th BMW. For more than a year, this squadron prepared for the emplacement of Titan I intercontinental ballistic missiles, which finally arrived in 1962, shortly after the activation of the 44th Strategic Missile Wing in January. At that time, Headquarters SAC also named the 44th SMW as host wing at Ellsworth.

Titan's life span was short in western South Dakota. In July 1962, SAC had effectively rendered it obsolete by activating the 66th Strategic Missile Squadron, the first of three such units slated to operate 150 Minuteman I ICBMs under the 44th SMW. The 67th Strategic Missile Squadron joined the 44th in August, followed by the 68th Strategic Missile Squadron in September 1962.

On June 1, 1971, SAC inactivated the 821st Strategic Aerospace Division. By October of that year, an upgraded Minuteman II also replaced earlier missiles. At its height, the 44th SMW consisted of three operational squadrons responsible for nearly 150 Minuteman II missiles. Ellsworth's missileers faithfully performed this difficult and often lonely duty for nearly 40 years, until the last missiles were taken offline in April 1994.

Throughout the Cold War, Ellsworth developed a reputation as "The Showplace of Strategic Air Command," standing guard with the dual nuclear deterrent of ICBMs and bomber aircraft. It carried out these vital missions from 1961 to 1994 with relatively little change. Then, the 1980s brought many new challenges.

New Sheriff in Town

In 1986, the base made extensive preparations to phase out the aging B-52 fleet and become the new home for the advanced B-1B Lancer. Contractors completed new unaccompanied enlisted dormitories in March, a new security police group headquarters in October and gave Ellsworth's 13,497-foot runway a much-needed facelift. In addition, they completed new aircraft maintenance facilities for the complex new bird. The last B-52H left in early 1986. In January 1987, the wing received the first of 35 B-1 bombers.

The 12th Air Division moved to Ellsworth on July 15, 1988. This organization was responsible for training B-1B, transient B-52 and the 28th BMW's KC-135 Stratotanker aircrews. Headquarters SAC activated a third wing, the 99th Strategic Weapons Wing, at Ellsworth on Aug. 10, 1989. This wing assumed primary responsibility for B-1B and B-52 advanced aircrew training.

Internationally, the destruction of the Berlin Wall in October 1989 symbolized the imminent demise of the Soviet Union over the next several months. During this transition, the Air Force also had to reshuffle its organizations and resources to meet the diminishing, although shifting, threat. Changes came quickly.

On Jan. 3, 1990, SAC redesignated the 812th Combat Support Group as the 812th Strategic Support Wing, which, for a short time, became Ellsworth's fourth wing. The 812th SSW consolidated all combat support activities into one organization. On July 31, 1990, SAC replaced the 12th Air Division with the Strategic Warfare Center, which provided operational command and administrative control over Ellsworth's subordinate units. Then, on Sept. 1, 1991, as part of SAC's intermediate headquarters and base-level reorganization plan, SAC renamed the 28th BMW the 28th Wing, the 44th SMW the 44th Wing, and the 99th SSW the 99th Tactics and Training Wing. Ten days later, SAC inactivated both the SWC and the 812th SSW. Once again, the 28th became Ellsworth's host organization and it soon absorbed all previous 812th SSW functions. It was also during this period that, in acknowledgment of the elimination of the Warsaw Pact, the secretary of defense ordered alert operations to stand down. The decades-long Cold War was over.

On June 1, 1992, as part of the first major reorganization since the creation of the U.S. Air Force, the Air Force inactivated SAC and assigned Ellsworth's organizations (including a renamed 28th Bomb Wing) to the newly activated Air Combat Command. After less than a year under the new command, the wing's mission changed from that of strategic bombardment to one of worldwide conventional munitions delivery. The mission of the 99th Tactics and Training Wing (later to become the 99th Wing) also continued, albeit slightly modified to fit the requirements of the new force concept.

The 44th Missile Wing, however, had ably accomplished its deterrence mission. The wing permanently pulled the first missile from its silo Dec. 3, 1991. The first launch control center shut down April 6, 1992. Deactivation of the entire missile complex ended in April 1994. In keeping with its patriotic Minuteman tradition, the 44th Missile Wing formally inactivated July 4, 1994.

In March 1994, Ellsworth welcomed the 34th Bomb Squadron, a geographically separated unit awaiting airfield upgrades before it could return to its parent organization, the 366th BW, at Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho. The 34th's B-1s were part one of the Air Force's composite wings, which also include F-15 Eagles, F-16 Fighting Falcons and KC-135s.

Also during 1994, the Air Force selected Ellsworth as the exclusive location from which to conduct a congressionally mandated operational readiness assessment of the B-1B, known locally as "Dakota Challenge." After six months of hard work, under both peacetime and simulated wartime conditions, the 28th BW and Ellsworth passed the test "with flying colors" and proved the B-1 to be a reliable and capable weapons system — the mainstay of America's heavy bomber fleet for years to come.

In 1995, the 99th Wing also departed for a new assignment at Nellis Air Force Base, Nevada, although a small contingent formerly attached to that wing remained behind to continue bomber tactics training and radar munitions scoring from a handful of dispersed detachments. In the same year, one of Ellsworth's oldest units, the 77th Bomb Squadron, was inactivated. While the unit (as an administrative entity) departed to save Air Force dollars for development of new follow-on B-1 munitions, the organization's aircraft remained at Ellsworth (in a flying reserve status) under the care of its sister unit, the 37th Bomb Squadron.

A reversal of fortune occurred March 26, 1996, when an announcement was made that the 77th Bomb Squadron would soon return to Ellsworth. On April 1, 1997, the squadron again activated at Ellsworth as the geographically separated 34th Bomb Squadron completed its transfer to its home at the 366th Wing, Mountain Home AFB, Idaho. By June 1998, the 77th had six of its B-1s out of the reconstitution reserve. This number balanced those lost by the 34th Bomb Squadron.

In March 1999, the Air Force announced a reorganization plan that made Ellsworth AFB and the 28th BW partners in the new Expeditionary Air Force concept. The 28th BW was named a lead wing in the EAF. Under this plan, the 77th BS gained six additional B-1s, and Ellsworth gained about 100 more military personnel. The expeditionary forces helped the Air Force respond quickly to any worldwide crisis while making life more predictable for military members.

Operation Allied Force

It wasn't too long before Ellsworth and the 28th Bomb Wing were taking the lead in the Expeditionary Air Force concept. Five B-1s from the 28th BW joined NATO forces in Operation Allied Force and began striking military targets in Kosovo on April 1, 1999.

By the end of the conflict in June 1999, B-1s from Ellsworth flew 100 combat missions and dropped more than 1,260 tons of Mk-82 general-purpose bombs. Once again, the B-1 and Team Ellsworth proved themselves invaluable to the security of our national interests.

Operation Enduring Freedom

After the events of Sept. 11, 2001, Ellsworth once again answered the call, deploying a number of B-1s in support of Operation Enduring Freedom. Aircraft from the 37th Bomb Squadron at Ellsworth AFB joined additional B-1s from the 34th BS at Mountain Home AFB and formed the 34th Expeditionary Bomb Squadron. This squadron, along with other elements from Ellsworth, deployed to Diego Garcia and joined the 28th Air Expeditionary Wing where they recorded an impressive record against the terrorist factions. Their combat mission effectiveness was greater than 95 percent and they flew 5 percent of the total strike aircraft missions. They dropped 39 percent of the total tonnage of bombs, which was more than any other platform. The amount of ordnance dropped was tremendous. During their deployment, 2,974 JDAMs, 1,471 Mk-82, 135 Mk-84 and 70 CBU-87 bombs were dropped. Ellsworth personnel continue to prepare for ongoing deployments in support of operations around the globe.

34th Bomb Squadron Replaces the 77th Bomb Squadron

On Sept. 19, 2001, the 34th BS joined the Ellsworth team and arrived from Mountain Home AFB, Idaho. Due to a drawdown in the number of B-1 aircraft in the Air Force inventory, the 77th BS War Eagles at Ellsworth were inactivated and the Thunderbirds of the 34th BS moved to Ellsworth to take their place.

Ellsworth Lands Remotely Piloted Aircraft Mission

U.S. Air Force officials announced its decision June 21, 2010, to bring the MQ-9 Reaper Ground Control Station (GCS) to Ellsworth. The installation gained about 280 civilian and military personnel to operate the MQ-9 Reapers. While the squadron operating the aircraft is based at Ellsworth, the aircraft remain overseas, supporting continuing operations. The MQ-9 squadron at Ellsworth, designated the 432nd Attack Squadron, was activated Oct. 1, 2011, and flew its first combat air patrol in May 2012.

Operation Odyssey Dawn

In March 2011, B-1 bombers from the 28th Bomb Wing launched from their home station of Ellsworth to strike targets in Libya in support of Operation Odyssey Dawn. With less than two days from first notice to takeoff, Ellsworth Airmen generated several aircraft and hundreds of weapons to provide the combat configuration needed halfway across the globe. This mission marked the first time the B-1 fleet launched combat sorties from the continental United States to strike targets overseas.

Today, Ellsworth Airmen continue to play a critical part in our nation's defense. B-1s from Ellsworth continually provide critical air presence, precision strike, and surveillance and reconnaissance capabilities in response to worldwide contingencies.

Operation Odyssey Dawn

The addition of ground control stations for MQ-9 Reaper aircraft reinforces Ellsworth's ability to adapt to emerging challenges. While the facilities and mission of the base have changed over time to meet the nation's needs, the dedication and commitment to excellence by our Airmen and their families remains as strong as it ever has been.

LOCAL AREA

RAPID CITY

In 1874, a flow of settlers were lured into the Black Hills by the discovery of gold. Through the gold rush, industries such as logging, ranching and farming began to grow.

Rapid City was founded in 1876. It's the county seat of Pennington County and is located about 30 miles from the western border of South Dakota, midway north and south, in the eastern foothills of the Black Hills. Spring-fed Rapid Creek flows through the city, paralleling the main business streets. Rapid City is the transportation center of western South Dakota. The city's elevation is about 3,240 feet above sea level.

Current estimates from the U.S. Census Bureau place Rapid City's population at more than 70,000. The city area encompasses 44.7 square miles and is the largest in the state. The city's 200-mile retail trade area has a total population of more than 450,000.

The climate is semi-arid, with excellent flying conditions, moderate winters, cool summer nights and low humidity. Average temperature is 46.6 degrees with an average annual precipitation of 55.8 inches.

Local industry includes agriculture and tourism, along with science, medical, engineering, technology, military-related and energy industries.

Agriculture

Agriculture is the lifeblood of South Dakota. It is the state's No. 1 industry and the No. 2 industry in western South Dakota. For the farmers and ranchers who work the land, it is more than a job — it is a career and a way of life. Although the way things are done have changed, agriculture remains the common thread linking the citizens, businesses and communities of our area.

The rural Rapid City area is home to more than 650 working farms, making up 1,185,055 acres of farmland and producing more than 280,000 acres in cropland. The average size farm in this area is approximately 1,400 acres. Western South Dakota's No. 1 harvested crop is wheat.

Livestock production in western South Dakota is in vast abundance. The top three products are beef cattle, sheep and bison.

Natural Resources

The Black Hills are an emerald-green oasis towering above the endless sea of prairie that surrounds them. Ponderosa pine dominates the Black Hills forest along with the Black Hills spruce (South Dakota's state tree), trembling aspens, paper birch and other bottomland hardwood trees. Elevations reach as high as 7,300 feet, and while the geography and terrain are tremendously varied, it is invariably breathtaking. Wildlife is diverse and abundant, ranging from impressive trout fisheries to big game species like elk, bison, whitetail and mule deer, and bighorn sheep. In many ways, the Black Hills are a mixing ground of east and west, of mountains and plains, and of moist and arid climates.

Area Culture and Background

Ellsworth is the largest employer in the West River region and the second-largest in the state. There are more than 750 civilians working on base. The total economic impact on the surrounding communities was nearly $353 million in 2011. Communities within close proximity to the base are Rapid City and Box Elder.

However, this is only a small part of the contribution the Airmen of Ellsworth make to the broader community.

Ellsworth Airmen and the 28th Bomb Wing are not just next to a great community, we are part of a great community. Our approximately 8,300 Airmen and family members are dedicated to playing an active role in the welfare of the broader Black Hills — far beyond just jobs and payroll. In 2010, Ellsworth Airmen volunteered more than 37,000 hours on and off base helping the local community. Some of their contributions include coaching children's sports and working with Honor Flight, the Make-a-Wish Foundation and many other local charities.

Today, South Dakota boasts one of the nation's most stable economies. The presence of Mount Rushmore, Crazy Horse Mountain, numerous other attractions and the scenic beauty of the Black Hills make tourism a major industry, particularly in the summer months. Mining, logging and agriculture also contribute to the coffers of one of the few remaining states to run at a budget surplus.

Perhaps because of the long and colorful history of the area, most citizens foster a strong sense of both community and pride. Local city and town governments reflect this attitude.

The political structure of the area is designed to meet the needs of growing communities. The "good neighbor" concept, established in Old West traditions, seems to be a governing principle for an area where people can still pay by check — with no identification required. City and county government is active, highly participative and addresses issues ranging from law enforcement to environmental concerns.

Cowboy boots, pickup trucks, high plains grassland and pine-covered mountains may give Rapid City a Western flair and easygoing lifestyle, but living or visiting Rapid City also creates a striking atmosphere for music, art and drama.

The arts are an important part of the community and are growing strong thanks to dedicated support from civic-minded volunteers, educators and a government interested in supporting the variety the arts can add to city life.

Rapid City and the Black Hills area have a thriving arts and culture scene that encompasses the values and history of our region. Rapid City's premier arts center, the Dahl, is a public facility owned by the city of Rapid City. Since it opened in 1974, the Dahl has been the center for contemporary visual arts, arts education and performing arts. The Dahl is managed by the Rapid City Arts Council, which is one of the oldest and most respected arts councils in South Dakota. The mission of the Arts Council is to bring art and people together to strengthen the community.

The Allied Arts Fund provides operation and promotional support for A Cappella Showcase, Bells of the Hills, Black Hills Chamber Music Society, Black Hills Community Theatre, Black Hills Dance Theatre, Black Hills Playhouse, Black Hills Symphony Orchestra, Dakota Artists Guild, Dakota Choral Union, Rapid City Arts Council and Rapid City Concert Association. In addition, they provide funding for other nonprofit grassroots community art projects. Together, all these groups represent the most active and established arts organizations in the Black Hills and provide more than 1,200 culturally enriching events each year.

- A Cappella Showcase presents area singers and musicians in their area concerts.
- The Bells of the Hills presents two handbell concerts annually.
- Black Hills Chamber Music Society presents a five-concert series of chamber music for the public each year and sponsors a music enrichment program for children in the Black Hills Children's Home.
- Black Hills Community Theatre reaches out to everyone in the Black Hills, providing them with the opportunity to learn, share and experience the performing arts through participation, classes or being an audience member at quality theatrical productions in the Black Hills. They do this by producing five Main Stage shows each year, one dinner theater fundraiser, four

Education

When it comes to education, South Dakota is wired for success. When it comes to computers, South Dakota has one of the highest computer-to-student ratios.

In the Black Hills, education doesn't end with high school. This region is home to two state universities, a technical institute and several private colleges.

Workers are well-educated; 24 percent of employed citizens hold a bachelor's degree, while nearly 9 percent hold an advanced degree.

Incoming families are encouraged to register their children in school as soon as possible. When registering children in school, parents need to provide the record of attendance and grades from previous schools, if available, and a birth certificate for kindergarten registration. Shot records are also needed when registering kindergartners.

Rapid City Area Schools District

The Rapid City Area Schools district, the second largest district in South Dakota, is dedicated to providing students equal access to an excellent educational program, which results in their becoming responsible citizens who know how to learn, value lifelong learning and cope with life in a changing society.

With an enrollment of more than 13,000 students, the district encompasses more than 419 square miles. It consists of 16 elementary schools, five middle schools and two high schools.

The district provides multifaceted educational opportunities through regular and special classes, community education children's theater productions, a senior theater program that performs at various senior centers and housing complexes throughout the region, and theater project development with the Suzie Cappa Players of the Black Hills Workshop.

- Black Hills Dance Theatre provides quality in dance education, performance and experience to audiences in the Black Hills region; presents The Nutcracker Ballet biennially; and sponsors a performance from a nationally acclaimed dance company every year.
- Black Hills Playhouse presents 60 to 65 performances that serve more than 15,000 patrons. They provide hands-on educational experiences for students with employment and internships.
- Black Hills Symphony Orchestra presents a five-concert series and co-sponsors the Young Artist Competition with the Black Hills Symphony League.
- Dakota Artists Guild provides art shows at First United Methodist Church, Black Hills Community Theatre and Black Hills Piano Gallery. They host artist workshops and sponsor youth scholarships.
- Dakota Choral Union performs annual series of four concerts with its nonauditioned choir.

- Rapid City Arts Council presents, promotes and preserves the arts through education, exhibits, performances and collections.
- Rapid City Concert Association presents an annual concert series featuring renowned, nationally known artists. Formed in 1937, it is Rapid City's oldest arts organization.

BOX ELDER

History of Box Elder

The city of Box Elder serves as the gateway to the Black Hills. In the late 1800s, the future site of Box Elder was a fertile valley, luring settlers west with untold promise. Lone Tree, a few miles east of Box Elder, was originally a stop for the covered wagons and horsemen coming to the Black Hills from Fort Pierre on the Black Hills Stage and Wagon Road. Box Elder was born as a whistle-stop town in 1907 when the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad built a track from Wall to Rapid City. The new town was named after the box elder trees, which grew along the head waters of the creek that flows through the valley. Box Elder was officially incorporated as a city in 1964 during the Cold War expansion of Ellsworth AFB.

LOCAL SIGHTS

Black Hills

In 1775, Standing Buffalo, an Oglala Sioux, discovered an area called Paha Sapa, meaning "mountains that are black." Seen from a distance, the dense stands of pine and fir make the hills appear black against the western sky. The Black Hills were considered the center of the universe and sacred by the Sioux Indians and an oasis in the prairie by the early settlers.

Known for the gold that lured the early explorers and prospectors, the Black Hills now lure the resident and traveler to a wealth of natural wonders, more valuable than the prospectors' gold ever was.

Within the broad confines of the Black Hills National Forest, you'll find Custer State Park; two national monuments, Wind Cave and Devils Tower; one national park, Jewel Cave; one national memorial, Mount Rushmore; numerous sparkling lakes; and hundreds of miles of beautiful hiking trails. Fifty miles to the east, carved from the eroded remains of an ancient sea floor, is Badlands National Park.

Wind Cave

According to Sioux legend, Wind Cave is the place where the buffalo were blown from under the earth to feed the Lakota people. In reality, changing atmospheric pressure causes a constant wind to blow from the cave that will chill the unwary who fail to bring a jacket or sweater — even in the summer.

Devils Tower

Devils Tower is truly a natural marvel — not just a movie prop for "Close Encounters of the Third Kind." Just across the Wyoming border, Devils Tower looms over the Belle Fourche River where antelope and prairie dogs roam its base. For the truly adventurous and qualified, a quick climb up the tower with ropes and pitons will verify there are no little green men to be found.

Jewel Cave National Monument

Jewel Cave National Monument is reached by taking an elevator several hundred feet downward to follow the twists and turns of a cavern that is still not completely explored.

Black Hills National Forest

Surrounding all this is the Black Hills National Forest, which offers picnic and camping areas, hiking and riding trails, and fishing and boating on the numerous streams and lakes.

Sturgis

West of Rapid City is Sturgis, host of the annual Sturgis Motorcycle Rally — one of the largest motorcycle rallies in the United States.

Spearfish

The city of Spearfish, located northwest of Rapid City, offers a scenic driving route. Spearfish Canyon has several scenic natural wonders such as Bridal Veil and Roughlock Falls.

Custer State Park

Custer State Park, in the central Black Hills, is where the largest herd of wild buffalo in the nation roams free. A wildlife trail takes you through the area where the main herd grazes, and while it may seem calm, several tons of charging buffalo can go anywhere they want. If you want a closer look, use your camera or binoculars. If you desire more refined recreation, stay at one of the four lodges that serve the park.

Badlands National Park

Fifty miles east of Rapid City, away from the trees and hills, one can find a different type of beauty in the erosion-carved spires of Badlands National Park. Carved from the eroded mud of an ancient sea floor, the Badlands were so named by Native Americans and settlers for their unsuitability as habitat and the difficulties encountered in traveling through them.

Dinosaur Park

Dinosaur Park, located on Skyline Drive in Rapid City, is home to gigantic cement dinosaurs. From Dinosaur Park, one has a magnificent view of Rapid City and the Black Hills. For more information, call 605-343-8687.

Mount Rushmore National Memorial

A quick 45 minutes from Rapid City sits the crown jewel of the Black Hills, Mount Rushmore National Memorial. Carved from the granite of the mountain, the stone faces of Washington, Jefferson, Roosevelt and Lincoln stare out across the Black Hills as a tribute to the men and women who helped make America what it is today. The memorial is free and is best seen in the midmorning light. However, a special lighting ceremony, held from early summer to late fall, adds special meaning to the memorial. A blend of pageantry and patriotism, the ceremony lights the memorial against the night sky.

Crazy Horse Monument

Nearby another mountain sculpture is taking shape as Chief Crazy Horse emerges from the granite. Conceived on a vast scale, the sculpture is not on the mountain — it is the mountain. With entirely private funding, the sheer magnitude of work required and the vagaries of weather, it's no surprise that a completion date is unknown. Still, slowly but surely, the face of the Lakota chief, his outstretched arm, and the head and neck of his horse are taking shape.

Deadwood

Further north, the old frontier town of Deadwood still thrives on the legends and ghosts of Wild Bill Hickok, Calamity Jane and Poker Alice. At Saloon No. 10, you can view historical Western and mining camp artifacts spanning more than 100 years. Both Wild Bill and Calamity Jane are buried in historic Mount Moriah Cemetery, which overlooks the town.

MILITARY WORKING DOG TEAM SUPPORT ASSOCIATION, INC.

Our organization's unofficial motto is "To support both ends of the leash."

Each year, we successfully ship care packages, complete base visits and recognition events, educate the general public and advocate on behalf of retired dogs. The MWDTSA has sent "care packages" to approximately 150-200 deployed teams each quarter — over 3,500 packages since 2006. Each box contains treats, toys, brushes, "doggles" and boots for the dogs as well as books, DVDs, snacks and goodies for the dog handlers.

Our mission includes, but is not limited to:

- Supporting Current Dog Handler Teams
- Supporting Veteran Dog Handler events/causes
- Supporting retired Military Working Dogs
- Supporting War Dog/Dog Team Memorials

Promoting Good Telephone Service

Military telephones and voice facilities are authorized for government official use only and must be restricted to calls essential to the accomplishment of the mission.

DIAL THE BASE OPERATOR FOR ASSISTANCE

Quality service from the base telephone system depends on the proper usage by the subscribers, the following suggestions are offered:

- Wait for the dial tone.
- Dial the number carefully.
- Identify yourself.
- Speak clearly.
- Keep conversation brief.

The base switchboard does not maintain commercial listings or home telephone numbers for military personnel.

Call the base operator for duty numbers for EAFB military personnel.

Report telephone trouble for base extensions to job control: 385-2666.

Defense Switched Network (DSN)

The Defense Switched Network (DSN) is the Defense Communication System (DCS) command and control information transfer network. The DSN is not simply a replacement for automatic voice network (AUTOVON).

In addition to providing familiar voice telecommunication service for command, control and other elements that support command and control worldwide, DSN will provide data and video services reflecting the technological changes of the information age.

Usage of DSN is limited to government official business.

Transferring calls into or out of the DSN that incur a toll charge is prohibited by AFI 33-111.

Trouble reporting – retain the circuit and report the trouble to the base communications squadron, 385-2666, from another phone if possible.

DIALING DSN – STATESIDE (ROUTINE PRECEDENCE)

- Must be using a telephone with the proper CoR (Class of Restriction).
- Dial 94 + the seven-digit DSN number.

DIALING DSN – OVERSEAS (ROUTINE PRECEDENCE)

- Dial the base operator – 0.
- Must be using a telephone with the proper CoR (Class of Restriction).
- Give the operator the DSN number information requested.
- The operator will place the call if there is an available circuit.

DIALING COMMERCIAL – LOCAL

- Must be using a telephone with the proper CoR (Class of Restriction).
- Dial 99 + the seven-digit local telephone number.

DIALING COMMERCIAL – STATESIDE LONG DISTANCE (FTS 2000)

- FTS 2000 provides commercial long-distance voice and data service to all federal agencies.
- FTS 2000 is not to be used when DSN or toll-free (1-800) access is available.
- FTS 2000 is for government official business only.
- FTS 2000 operates only within the CONUS.
- To place a call using FTS 2000 contact your organization's telephone control officer (TCO) to locate a telephone with this capability (proper CoR) and instructions for logging the call on AF Form 1072 (Authorized Long Distance Call Log).
- Dial 98 + 1 + the area code + the seven-digit number.

DIALING COMMERCIAL – OVERSEAS LONG DISTANCE

- Official long-distance calls outside the CONUS (overseas) must be placed by the base operator.
- Dial 0 and give the operator your name, grade, organization, duty extension, certification that the call is official, the country and commercial telephone number.
- The operator will place the call ONLY if there is no DSN access available.

PERSONAL CALLS – LONG DISTANCE

- Credit card billing is the only accepted method for personal long-distance calls. Dial your commercial carrier and follow the instructions.
- Long-distance calls cannot be charged to base extensions.

NOTES

Many are unaware that our government only provides three flights when service members are wounded. Recovery from injuries can last several years.

This is where Luke's Wings steps in.

Luke's Wings, a non-profit dedicated to the support of American heroes who have been wounded in battle, provides families with the means to visit during the service member's recovery.

Transportation Assistance Programs

Wounded Warriors

Visits with loved ones as service members celebrate milestones in their recovery not only bring comfort, but also play a crucial role in healing both physically and emotionally.

Special Operations Command

Luke's Wings is the "go-to" for providing flights for the loved ones of special operators, who are injured on special missions, under the Special Operations Command Care Coalition.

Veterans in Hospice Care

Luke's Wings provides flights for family members of Veterans in hospice care in an effort to ensure that no Veteran is ever alone during their final days.

Donate Miles

Luke's Wings is proud to be a Delta SkyWish Miles partner.
